

Advocating for Domestic Violence Survivors

Many domestic violence cases are not reported to law enforcement. Many survivors of domestic violence continue to endure the pain and discomfort of domestic violence because of a lack of financial resources or a uniform feeling of hopelessness.

We can help with:

- Access to financial resources
- Collaborating with domestic violence programs
- Support for systemic programs

ADVOCATING FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE

Advocating for Women's Pay Equity

Most women working full-time, year-round do not earn the same as their male counterparts, even though both may have the same experience and education. Our goal is to make sure that everyone in the workplace is paid equally when engaging in the same or similar work.

We advocate for

- Equal pay and closing the wage gap
- Pay transparency in the workplace
- Eliminate prior reliance on prior salary history

Advocating for Women & Children of All Cultures

Women in New Mexico comprise more than half the population of the state. Women in New Mexico are also more likely to live in poverty than men. Similarly, more than 25% of the children in the state live in poverty.

We advocate for:

- Eliminating excessive school discipline for children of color
- Healthcare and reproductive rights
- Eliminating reliance on prior salary history

Advocating for Low & Middle Income Families

New Mexico has the highest percentage of families living below the poverty level. It is important that every person has equal access to voting, jobs, and housing, without regard to race, color, or wealth.

We help find pro bono lawyers!

- To provide legal services for low and moderate income families
- To assist with impact litigation
- To protect voting rights and fight against racial discrimination
